The Minden Hills Fire Department and the Dysart et al Fire Department firefighters work to suppress a fire at a Lochlin residence on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 8. Bringing water from a nearby pond down the road proved to be an additional challenge, as the ice on the pond was 18 inches thick. The Haliburton County Emergency Medical Services, Ontario Provincial Police and Ontario Hydro were also on scene.

Duchene named to Team Canada for Sochi 2014

By Darren Lum

The Highlands could be seeing Olympic gold this year with Haliburton's Matt Duchene being named to Canada's Men's Olympic Hockey Team.

Duchene will be one of 25 NHLers playing for gold at the Sochi Winter Olympics. The team was announced on Jan. 7.

True to character, Duchene, a centre for the Colorado Avalanche, not only admitted to the anxiety leading up to the announcement as a "bubble player," but also credited the support he has received during a television interview.

"It's been crazy," he said. "I knew coming into this season if I wanted to make the team I had to play my way on and that was an exciting challenge. I've had so many amazing people support me and help me through all the ups and downs that hockey brings and the challenges on and off the ice. Without those people there's no way I'd be able to make this team. I'm just so honoured to be able to represent Canada."

He joins an all-star cast of players that includes good friend Sidney Crosby, Jonathan Toews and John Tavares.

Duchene's family has always been there to support him throughout his career. It was fitting then that he would reach out to his parents and younger sister close to 45 minutes before the announcement.

"It's a dream come true for Matt so we are extremely excited for him," his mother, Chris, wrote in an e-mail. "It is a tremendous honour to have been named to a team that has such an incredibly deep talent pool. He is absolutely thrilled to be chosen and ready to work hard in whatever role he is given to help Canada win a gold medal."

Haliburton pair charged with theft, drug offences

By Mark Arike
Staff

The OPP have arrested and charged two people from Haliburton believed to be involved in a string of vehicle thefts, dating back to spring of last year.

"They've been directly identified as being involved in more than 10 incidents," said OPP Const. Paul Potter of the Haliburton Highlands OPP on Jan. 7. "That's as they [the charges] stand right now. That's going to soon change."

According to an OPP press release, a 26-year-old man and 22-year-old woman were arrested and charged with numerous offences, including theft under $5,000 and possession of cocaine and marijuana, after plainclothes and uniformed officers executed a search warrant at a residence on Wigamog Road in Haliburton on Jan. 3.

Since last February, several vehicles were broken into in parking lots between Minden and Haliburton, said Det. Const. Peter Backus. Stolen items included GPS units, cell phones, purses and loose change.

"There are at least 30 different victims," said Backus, adding that most of the vehicles were unlocked while some were forcibly entered.

Backus confirmed that similar incidents in "other jurisdictions" are currently under investigation. Local OPP as well as "special resources" have been utilized.

More charges will be laid in the near future, said Potter.

"We've basically started with the current number of charges, and then there's going to be more added to that," he said.

The male was held for a Jan. 6 bail hearing in Lindsay, according to the press release.

As of Tuesday, the man was still in custody, said Potter.

On Jan. 4, officers also arrested and charged a 19-year-old Haliburton man in connection with thefts from vehicles in the Rexall parking lot in Haliburton. Neither Potter nor Backus could comment on whether that arrest is linked to the current investigation.

Police are currently in possession of stolen items that have not yet been returned to their rightful owners, said Backus.

"If anyone has specific items that were stolen, that they feel they can provide us with an adequate description of, I want them to come forward."

Anyone with inquiries about stolen property should contact Backus at the Haliburton Highlands OPP at 705-286-1431.

Police are reminding the public to lock their car doors when left unattended, and to never leave valuables or personal identification in their vehicles.

Outdoors Association purchases new fish tank

The fish have a new home to grow up in now that the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association (HHOA) have received a 24-foot fiberglass replacement tank for the hatchery. The HHOA took possession of the tank on Dec. 20. It cost $10,000 and will replace one of the older tanks. Larry Hewitt of Hawk River Construction unloaded the tank using a log truck boom.

Highlands could be cycling 'mecca'

By Lisa Harrison
Contributing writer

Could cycling become the county's next big tourism draw?

Cycle tourism is growing in the county and throughout the province, said Sue Shikaze, chair of the Haliburton Communities in Action Committee (CIA) and health promoter with the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit.

"Our roads are really great resources," said Shikaze. She quoted Ajax mayor Steve Parish, an avid cyclist who has cycled here, who said "your [Haliburton's] roads have to be such that they're welcoming to cyclists. You [the county] have got the raw materials to make you a real cycling mecca."

"And we do," said Shikaze. "We have a really great road network, we have really interesting destinations, terrain, lots of great places for people to cycle, and more and more people are coming to do, in particular, long training rides here."

Shikaze cited studies showing that two million visitors cycled in Ontario in 2010, an increase of 25 per cent from 2009, and spent approximately $391 million, up 18 per cent. Cycle tourists are largely white collar workers whose incomes are higher than average, and they generally spend 1.3 times the amount a typical tourist would spend on a trip. They also represent a large market, including family leisure, recreational, touring, competitive and mountain biking.

This year 36 per cent of Ontarians cycled and 69 per cent said they want to cycle more, up 8 per cent and 11 per cent respectively from 2012.

The county's master cycling plan identifies priority roads for cycling and for paved shoulders, all included in the county's official plan and those of the four lower tier municipalities. Under the plan, paved shoulders are generally added as roads are reconstructed.

"The work being done and the partnerships that exist in Haliburton County to promote cycling/active transportation and improve policy and infrastructure are recognized provincially and nationally as a best practice for small, rural communities," Shikaze reported.

For example, the county is viewed as a provincial leader in the annual Share the Road campaign to increase driver awareness of cyclists' needs. The City of Kawartha Lakes is among the many municipalities that are adapting the county's model for their own use, and Shikaze quoted the British Columbia Interior Health Authority as commenting, "...to the best of our knowledge, the Haliburton example is a leading practice internationally..."

County tourism director Amanda Ranson has discussed cycle tourism with both Shikaze and the Haliburton Real Easy Ryders Cycling Club (HRER), which promotes recreational cycling in north central Ontario. The club has 148 members, including cottagers, and holds weekly rides locally from May to October as well as two- and three-day trips in June and September to locations such as St. Jacob's and Napanee.

"I do think that because of the ribbons of roads and trails in the county" that cycling can be a strong tourism draw, said Ranson. She called the Share the Road program "fantastic" and said the cycling demographic fits well with the demographic she's focusing on through the county tourism brand plan released in October.

"Obviously I'm very interested in health lifestyles and active living, and this is a great way to do that... It's all-encompassing, young or old."

The Ministry of Transportation updated its 20-year cycling strategy last year and cycle tourism is one of its five strategic directions. Under the plan the Ministry will promote Ontario as a premier cycling tourism destination, identify a province-wide cycling network and use it to prioritize future infrastructure investments, and work with partners to improve cycling tourism experiences.

"The word is that there will be some money for some type of cycling infrastructure projects for communities," said Shikaze.

Letters to the editor

The local touch

Dear editor,

During the last few days we have learned to appreciate local businesses more than ever.

Your readers, I am sure, are aware of the rules established regarding our oil tanks and the mandatory 10-year inspection of heating equipment. Our furnace was therefore serviced and inspected. We had them change the pipes deemed necessary and received the comprehensive report. As per instructions we took a copy to the local Ultramar office.

On the Friday afternoon following Christmas, we received a phone call from Ultramar head office in Ottawa. The employee abruptly informed us that, as of that day, they would not refill our oil tank as the tank was of a kind that has a high incident of oil leaks.

We explained that it was indoors, had been inspected and considered safe. Asking to speak to "the boss," we had to wait until Monday. She called very late in the day. We explained it is very cold here, deep snow, very steep driveway, and it was too difficult to replace at this time. Besides, according to regulations, we have 90 days to do so. She was just plain nasty and said no they would not give us another drop of oil.

Today we attended the local bank where we were treated with dignity and professional attention and stopped payment for Ultramar's monthly payment. Then we went to the local Ultramar office where the friendly person in charge also treated us with respect as we cancelled our agreement with Ultramar.

We then went to another supplier, met the friendly owners, and were assured they would not see us go cold without oil. They took a copy of the comprehensive report, said they would keep an eye on it, and get oil to us until the weather improves and delivery of the new tank can be made safely.

We greatly appreciate how we were treated today by the locally owned businesses and urge you to support them. Thank you, Haliburton, for your considerate and respectful handling of our little problem. You put the very rude Ottawa-based business to shame.

Happy New Year to all,

Joan & Don Cameron
Haliburton

The end of an era

Dear editor,

I was both saddened and disappointed to hear the news that morning, Dec. 16, that Bram Lebo, publisher of Maple Key Media, had bought The Echo, The Times, and the Bancroft and Barry's Bay This Week newspapers from Sun Media. This, with his The Highlander, gives him the monopoly of the news despite what others may say. Competition of the news in the Highlands is dead. Mr. Lebo said every employee of Sun Media has been offered a position. Great, but not necessarily the position they held. Jenn Watt lost her position as managing editor, a job she held since the departure of Martha Perkins. Chad Ingram heard the new format of the Times and chose to leave us. What a loss! His opinion column told it like it was – the good news and the bad – and often with humour. It is so sad to think that this all happened with an election year coming up. This is one of the most important elections for Minden Hills and we have lost our watch dog. Chad is a true investigative reporter and has uncovered news that some in our council wanted kept quiet, and there is more to come. Will The Highlander report this? I hope so! Now we have one paper questioning candidates for the October election. Will we get a one-sided opinion as to their positions to represent us for our future four years of government?

I know the management is sorting out who is doing what but the last issue of The Times was most disappointing. Instead of reporting on the year that was passing and the hopes for the year coming up, (which Chad would have done in his opinion column), we got three pages of the Legion Remembrance Day Contest winners. Yes, this was important to the children involved but I thought the timing was odd! I see no point in continuing my subscription if we are just going to get the same Highlander reporters writing columns that are in The Highlander.

I have e-mailed both Chad and Jenn and wished them well but their leaving has created a void in the knowledge of the history in the Highlands that The Highlander does not have yet.

Jenn and Chad, you will be missed.

We would also like to thank our new director, Kate Butler, for being the creative person she is and keeping the museum filled with ideas.

We are looking forward to a very successful 2014 and are counting on another banner year. Please visit our website for further information.

— Giving a push — Down our Road

By Sharon Lynch

When Andrea was seventeen she resolved to be a ballet dancer. At the age of 50, with 20 extra pounds on her frame, she had to admit to never coming close to that first New Year's resolution. Unfortunately the same could be said of most if not all the other promises she had made to herself since.

She was going to become a marathon runner, a rich and famous author, a breeder of horses and a concert pianist. In the process of achieving these she would also join a fitness club, quit smoking and drinking wine, and pay her bills on time.

Alas she had achieved none of these. Well, almost none. She had managed to quit smoking, no small task to be sure, and her bills were usually paid almost on time. In life sometimes close is good enough.

But now Andrea was gripped by a feeling of missed opportunities, of a life slipping by with nothing but mediocrity overflowing its confining shores. So what better time to start anew than at the beginning of January? Surely, she thought, she should be able to pull off something more than the flat life she was living.

These thoughts were running through her head as she finished the breakfast dishes. Her husband was outside shovelling the driveway even though the snow continued to fall. He said he wanted to keep ahead of it. For Andrea the day stretched ahead with a boring sameness. Somehow she also wanted to get ahead of it but she did not know what that 'it' was.

Winter was like this for her. Besides watching the birds at her feeders, she found little pleasure in this time of year once Christmas was over. Years ago she had skied but that had fallen away and now it no longer appealed to her. With creeping age had come a fear of injury unknown in her youth. Now it was hard to imagine she had ever dared to ride a galloping horse or perform in front of an audience. Such courage.

Her husband came inside, red faced and energized from his shovelling. He was ready to sit by the fire and read one of his Christmas books. But not Andrea. There was a restlessness that had taken hold and she moved between kitchen and living room like a cat prowling for mice.

Two Christmases before her son had given her a pair of snowshoes. She had only used them once. That had been after a particularly heavy snowfall, when she had needed to refill the bird feeder and not wanted to wade through almost waist-high snow to do so. Wondering where they were now, she began rummaging through the house.

At the back of the clothes closet, looking brand new, they seemed to wink at her. Come on, they urged, give us another try.

There was a free snowshoeing group offered at the local park. Her son has told her about it on Boxing Day and while Andrea had been non-committal at the time, she now decided to drive over and check it out.

To her surprise there was a crowd milling about, stooped over their equipment or all set to head out. It was a mixed group with a good sprinkling of local seniors.

Andrea recognized some faces and no longer felt as awkward as when she had first arrived.

There was a trail marked through the bush, meandering upward past snow-laden branches and over humps and hollows. The sky seen between the tree tops was flawless and as she joined the others Andrea could feel her spirits lift.

While she was unable to keep up with the more experienced trekkers, she managed to hold her own. At one point the binding holding her right boot came undone and she had to stop to tend to it. This put her farther behind the others. But Andrea didn't mind. In fact she enjoyed the quiet as the receding figures moved further up the trail. For a few minutes she had a taste of what it would be like to snowshoe by herself. Peaceful. Silent. Surrounded by beauty.

When she returned home, her husband was dozing on the chesterfield, an open book on his lap. Andrea was suddenly seized with a deep appreciation for all she had and all she could have, if she just pushed herself out of that comfort zone she liked so much. It might not be as difficult as she would have thought after all.

A new year, a new resolution for weight loss

By Sue Tiffin
Staff

Karen Code can be so uncomfortable about her weight that she doesn't try the things she wants to do.

"Generally someone would just go skiing, however, for me, I wonder 'am I too heavy for the skis?'" says the 31-year-old support worker. "What will people say or think if they saw me on the hill?"

And so she doesn't go, saying "not only does the weight affect me physically, it affects my whole being."

But this year, says Code, that changes.

She wants to lose half her weight, make healthy food choices, and get physical on a regular basis.

"I do not want any more time to pass without me living the life and lifestyle I want for me and my family."

For Code, choosing to change her habits this year is a no-brainer. She says that she wants to be healthy, because right now, she's not.

Trainer Meghan Reid says there are plenty of people who make a resolution to lose weight, but, "when you set resolutions, you're setting yourself up for failure." Her Minden-based business, Just Movement Fitness, as well as her business partner and fitness mentor Lorie Kah's studio, Physical Journeys Fitness, offer a variety of classes for everyone from students to empty nesters, and are usually very busy in January. But, by mid-February, the classes start to dwindle.

"People get it in their head that they're going to do this," says Reid. "They're gung-ho at first, and then the challenges of every day life set in."

Reid says that instead of broad goals like losing weight or getting fit, it's important to take a holistic approach to fitness and aim to just move.

"It's about moving your body in a way that feels good," says Reid. She also thinks it's important to consider setting SMART (specific, measurable, attainable, realistic, and timely) goals. And Code agrees.

"I think it is healthy to set goals," Code says. "But they need to be SMART goals to help you succeed."

Code will be giving updates on Facebook so that her family and friends can help encourage her, and Reid is known for her enthusiastic motivation.

"It's good to tell people about your goals," says Reid. "You're doing this for you, but your family and coworkers also reap the benefit of your fitness and health."

Dr. Nell Thomas of the Family Health Team says resolution or not, it is recommended to get thirty minutes of exercise daily.

"That's the message I give all day long," she says. "Start with five minutes and just work your way up."

Code intends to take classes with Reid to help reach her goals.

"Life can be tough and if you wait for the right time, it will never come," she says. "If you want something bad enough, make it happen."

Funding for A Place Called Home

By Lisa Harrison
Contributing writer

A new homelessness prevention program in the county has been a success, but that's a two-edged sword, according to organizers.

"It's hard to say we're pleased with the program" because it has revealed that homelessness is indeed a problem in the county, and that's not good, said Dave Tilley, manager of administration and development for A Place Called Home (APCH). The non-profit charity serves the homeless in both the county and the City of Kawartha Lakes (CKL).

However, APCH is "very, very pleased with the community response," said Tilley. "Social agencies have really come onside", as have other organizations such as local churches.

"It's a fantastic endeavour."

APCH began in 1993 by providing shelter in a leased five-bedroom house in Lindsay, where the program is based. APCH now operates a 19-bed emergency shelter there. Given the county's "extreme rural nature", rather than open a shelter here, APCH provided local motel accommodation or transportation to the Lindsay shelter as funding and circumstances allowed.

Since then APCH has launched several other programs, also based out of Lindsay, including an emergency home energy program to provide financial resources for hydro and home heating emergencies, now in partnership with the 4C's (food bank) in Haliburton. An Identification Clinic helps the homeless obtain the necessary forms they need to move on with their lives, in particular through partnerships with various government agencies that enable APCH staff to circumvent traditional regulations such as proof of residency. A Youth in Transition program provides support to those aged 16 to 24 who are struggling to remain housed, and the Outreach program does the same for adults.

This year Tilley wrote the program for a pilot project for county-based homelessness prevention services, covering a rented Minden office and one full-time, dedicated employee. Launched in July, the program provides front-line access to APCH's full range of homelessness prevention services as well as direct assistance in accessing emergency accommodations.

By mid-December 133 people in 73 households had been assisted, including 34 children and 29 seniors, according to program coordinator Tina Jackson.

For example, APCH helped a youth from a "very troubled family" find appropriate housing with a supportive landlord. The youth is doing well in school and the landlord is helping him find work. An elderly widow was already struggling to buy food after paying her mortgage, property taxes and hydro. With her home at 14 degrees and only enough wood remaining for two weeks, she "swallowed her pride" and contacted APCH. The program issued a $700 grant and negotiated a "great rate" with a local supplier for sufficient cut and split wood for the winter.

"The people that the Haliburton County program helps are our neighbours, our friends," said Jackson. "They are the cashiers at the local stores, the man who plows your driveway. They are people like you and me who have hit a hard time in their life and need a bit of help."

The county pilot project was scheduled to end Dec. 31 since it was expected new funding from the province's Community Homelessness Prevention Initiative (CHPI) would be available Jan. 1. However, for various reasons CKL, which also oversees county social services, has deferred timing on the necessary proposals and funding will not become available until July 1, according to Tilley.

"We have managed to stretch the initial grant money far enough to cover costs until March," Jackson reported. She added APCH has received some designated donations and is confident it will raise the additional $6,500 needed to continue operating until April 30.

APCH's request for bridge funding of $6,000 from the county for the remaining period was reviewed at the county's Finance and Correspondence Committee meeting Jan. 8. The committee agreed to provide the requested funding, however the decision must be approved by county council at its meeting on Jan. 22.

The Highland Storm Midget A team celebrates after scoring a goal against South Muskoka on Jan. 3.

Storm end season with big win over league rivals

By Matthew Desrosiers
Editor

The Highlander's Highland Storm Midget A team got the last say in a season-long battle against their rivals from South Muskoka, winning 3-2 in a hard-fought game in Haliburton on Jan. 3.

South Muskoka is the only team to have beat the Storm all season, winning their last two meetings.

The home team opened the scoring with under five minutes left in the first period. In the second, up 2-0, the Storm took a four-minute penalty for hitting to the head. Penalty killers worked hard for the first two minutes of the penalty, unable to get off the ice. With just a minute left, however, South Muskoka put one in to get within a goal.

Although the visitors carried momentum into the third period, it would be the Storm who capitalized on their chances, retaking their two-goal lead.

South Muskoka made the game interesting with a goal near the end of the game, but the home team weathered the storm, coming away with the victory.

"They're a good team," said Storm head coach Jamie Dollo. "[They're] a good skating team, and they always play hard. You've got to raise your intensity if you want to be in the game."

Dollo said his team did just that.

"It's just effort. That's it. Other than maybe one penalty that we shouldn't have took, [we] played a really disciplined, hard game."

The Midget A team finished their regular season with a record of 14-2-2. They currently sit in first in the league standings, but South Muskoka is only two points behind with a postponed game remaining on their schedule.

Next for the team is the Muskoka-Parry Sound league playdown tournament this weekend in Bracebridge and Gravenhurst, Dollo said. After that the team heads into the Ontario Minor Hockey Association playoffs.

"They're a great group of kids," he said. "It's been a fun year so far and hopefully we can carry on into the playoffs."

Dollo's Foodland Peewee A

Submitted by Larry Bukta

Dollo's Foodland's Highland Storm Peewee A team finished the regular season winning back-to-back games against league points leader South Muskoka. Saturday's game in Haliburton was a 3-1 win that featured goalie Carson Sisson playing his best game of the season. Sisson stopped a number of shots during two periods when South Muskoka put huge pressure on the Highland Storm. South Muskoka scored first in the opening period, but Owen Gilbert tied the score on a slapshot after receiving a pass from Ethan Glecoff. Alex Little scored next on a breakaway after receiving a pass from Ryan Hall. Gilbert scored Highland Storm's third goal assisted again by Glecoff.

Game two in Gravenhurst was a 4-2 win with the Storm team perhaps playing their best game of the season. South Muskoka opened the scoring in the first period. Ben MacNaull tied the game early in the second period. South Muskoka and the Storm team then traded goals with Nick Dollo, tying the score late in the second period. With a 2-2 tie in the third period, Glecoff quickly scored the winning goal followed four minutes later by a goal by Gilbert. The Storm Peewee The team will head to the Muskoka-Parry Sound League playoffs in Minden and Haliburton on Jan. 18 and 19.

Canadian Tire Novice

Submitted by Ron Hall

On Dec. 29, the Highland Storm Canadian Tire novices travelled to Huntsville to play the Otters. With a shortened bench due to injuries and sickness, the Storm faced a bench full of opponents. Playing hard in the first period battling back and forth, the Otters managed to get one on the board ending the period 1-0. The storm tried their best and didn't give up, but couldn't get any breaks. The Otters managed to score two more, putting them ahead by three. They then put in another three to make the final score 6-0.

The coaching staff is very proud of the boys for playing so hard with only eight skaters against a bench of 15.

On Saturday Jan. 4, the Highland Storm Canadian Tire Novices played the Huntsville otters. The Storm hit the ice with strong determination and played hard in the first period in spite of Huntsville scoring two. The storm held their own with the Otters, not allowing any scoring in the second period. The Otters managed to get two more in the third making the final score 4-0. On January 12 the Storm will head to MacTier to play the North Muskoka lightning in a doubleheader.

Runners tackle Minden to Ottawa trek

By Matthew Desrosiers
Editor

Jim McKinnon is leading the charge.

At 70 years old, the retired Royal Canadian Airforce fitness specialist has started up a group to run the distance from the county offices in Minden to Parliament Hill in Ottawa. That's 344 kilometres to cover over 100 days.

He's calling it the Great Haliburton County Winter Road Running Rally.

"It's a fun thing to do, it really is," McKinnon said.

"It's such a stimulus to get out in the good weather, but the foul weather too. Off you go, and at the end of your time or distance, the chemistry of the brain kicks in and tells you you had a good time and feel good."

McKinnon discovered his love of running after suffering severe damage to his shoulder.

"I had to give up certain activities. Running became a really good focus for me."

Because most people only like to run in nice weather, McKinnon found people were lacking motivation to run in the winter. He developed a program, then living in Ottawa, to run to Quebec City. Members of the group would run their daily distances, then mark progress on the board until eventually they reached their goal.

He found that program provided the necessary motivation to get people out in the cold to run, and so wanted to bring that to Haliburton where he has lived for four years.

The group was set to start their run to Ottawa on Jan. 1 but the snow and cold forced them to move the start date to Feb. 1.

"Foul weather diehards like myself would still be out there, but people who need the extra motivation decided to hang back and wait for good weather," he said.

When they get started, McKinnon said he will keep track of everyone's progress and map a route from Minden to Ottawa. Each participant will receive a sign up kit which will include the route they'll be figuratively running.

To prepare runners for the cold conditions, McKinnon will also host workshops in February to talk about running mechanics and how to stay warm.

"It would be a good way for people to meet one another," he said.

Each runner will run their own distances at their own pace. It's not a group run, he said.

"All in all, it's just a really fun experience."

As a Minden Lion, McKinnon approached the club to sponsor the run. "They would consider offering their club building for us to have a potluck banquet at the end of [the run], or even once a month."

Bringing runners together to talk about their passion for running, to share tips and ticks, and to socialize, is the driving force behind organizing this event.

"People are already running, but it's always motivating, no matter how good or humble you are as a runner, to be able to come up alongside somebody and have a chat about it," he said. "We're all cut off the same block and are having a good time running through the snow."

Participation in the run is free and open to all ages. Call 705-457-0183 for info.

All in all, it's just a really fun experience.

Executive Director

The Executive Director is a highly motivated and energetic leader with a strong interest in conservation. The Executive Director serves as the public face of the Land Trust and provides leadership in the areas of funding development, volunteer and membership development and the management of staff and operations. The successful candidate brings a commitment to environmental conservation and a background in management, ideally in the not-for-profit sector. You have:

- Proven ability to lead an organization through change to successful growth in its funding, membership base and partnerships.
- An undergraduate or college degree in environmental studies/science, business administration, non-profit management or a related field.

This position is funded through a two year Trillium grant. It is the intent of the Land Trust to make this position ongoing following this grant. Retention is of course dependent upon funding which is a key focus of the position. The full terms of reference are available on the website at www.haliburtonlandtrust.ca

Administrative Assistant

The Administrative Assistant reports directly to the Executive Director and works closely with the Board of Directors and its committees. The position involves setting up and maintaining information pertaining to volunteers, memberships (and membership levels), donations, projects, and electronic mailing lists. In loving memory of

Dawson Hamilton

Jan. 23, 2000 to Jan. 10, 2010

Time speeds on, four years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadow, cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light,
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there is none to fill,
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven, we will meet again.
Love and Miss You, Dad and Tanner.

In memory of our beloved grandson,
Look around your garden Lord,
He won't be hard to find,
He has a heart that's full of love
And a face that's sweet and kind.
Tell him that we love him,
And when he turns and smiles
Put your arms around him Lord
And hold him for awhile.

Love you Forever Grandma and Grandpa Hamilton

You just walked on ahead of me,
And I've got to understand,
You must release the one you love,
And let go of their hand.
I try and cope the best I can,
I'm missing you so much,
If only I could see you,
And once more feel your touch.
Yes you just walked on ahead of me,
Don't worry I'll be fine,
But love and then I swear I feel,
Your hand slip into mine.
Love Uncle G and Aunt Jackie

Your life was a blessing
Your memory a treasure...
You are loved beyond words
And missed beyond measure...
Forever in our hearts, Aunt Jill, Jordan and Jenna.

What's on

Hockey's greats on the way

By Matthew Desrosiers
Editor

Hockey legends are coming to the Highlands to help launch There's Something in the Water?, a documentary about Haliburton's hockey history, at Hockey Night in Haliburton.

The event is scheduled for Jan. 25 in Head Lake Park, where a 40-foot screen will be erected to show the film.

Charlie Teljeur, the movie's director, confirmed Bobby Baun, Chris Nilan, Bernie Nicholls, Phil Pritchard, and TSN's James Duthie will attend the event, possibly with more to be named in the weeks to come.

Baun is well-known to Toronto Maple Leafs fans.

"He's one of the last Leafs that are around that actually played for a Leaf [Stanley Cup] team," Teljeur said. "The cool part for him was he had a lot of history with Hockey Haven."

Hockey Haven, as moviegoers will learn in the documentary, was a hockey camp in Haliburton that attracted many of the greats, including Wayne Gretzky. Baun participated in the camp, teaching kids to play the game.

"You get that same cycle of guys that come up," Teljeur said. "Baun is not one of those guys that's been up here for a long time, at least not in an announced capacity."

That's a cool situation."

Former Montreal Canadiens tough-guy 'Knuckles' Nilan will also make an appearance for the event.

"He's had a checkered past," Teljeur said, referring to Nilan's noted history of addiction to alcohol and pain killers. "He has been through a lot of stuff he's so up front about, and I think that makes him such a likeable human being in that sense."

Bobby Baun, circled, seen here in an old Hockey Haven ad published in The Hockey News.

"Later on, hopefully people will say they never made it to the event but really wanted to," Teljeur said. "It's a once-in-a-lifetime event."
